MAH CET Cutoffs (2024)

Category	Cutoff Percentile
General	99.94
OBC	99.81
SC	99.29
ST	97.43
EWS	99.74

Strategic Preparation Tips for JBIMS

1. Choose the Right Entrance Exam

While JBIMS accepts multiple exams, MAH-MBA CET is preferred for Maharashtra students as 85% of seats are reserved for them. For All India quota (15% seats), CAT or CMAT scores are considered.

2. Focus on Achieving Top Percentiles

Given the extremely high cutoffs, you should aim for Rank 1 to create a buffer. This ensures that even if you score slightly lower than expected, you'll still meet the cutoff requirements.

3. Balance Accuracy and Speed

Since CET is a speed-based exam, practice balancing accuracy and speed. There's no benefit in solving 100 questions with 100% accuracy if you can solve 200 questions with 50% accuracy.

4. Strengthen Weak Areas

You cannot afford to have major weak areas when targeting JBIMS. Identify your weak subjects and allocate more time to them compared to your strong areas.

5. Improve Calculation and Reading Skills

Fast calculation skills can save significant time during the exam. Practice regularly to improve your speed, and read extensively to understand questions faster.
